Cards of Patience is a multi-layered card game. You play as one of four characters that can use spells to destroy cards and gain new ones. Each card, if you destroy it, represents one battle and will usually cause further damage to other cards. With each victory, you can level up. You can use permanent upgrades or hire new characters. There are countless ways to play this game and the possibilities are endless. Game Controls: The rules are simple: tap a card, tap a card, tap a card, tap a card, tap a card...If you tap the same card twice, you will be able to use it to upgrade your hero. To see the current card you can tap anywhere on the screen. You can also tap the screen to enter the battle turn. You can tap anywhere on the screen to use your special action. You can use one or all three special actions in a given turn. Special Move: Tap the spell that you want to use, but don't tap the card you want to use. It will be replaced by the spell you tapped. -You can still move that card even if it's a locked card. Avert move: Tap two cards of the same rank to avoid moving that card. -If you move a card with your first avert move, you can still use the second avert move. -This spell can be used for the first and second time. "Pick Up" move: Tap a card with a dot on the bottom right corner and you can pick it up. -Only one card can be picked up per turn. Ease "Pick Up" move: Pick up multiple cards with a speed of 5 and an ease of level 2. -You can also pick up your locked card. Attack move: Tap a card with an attack symbol on the bottom right corner to attack a target. -The attack will deal damage based on the target's attack. If the target is destroyed, it will do additional damage to the card you attacked. Learn move: Tap a spell button and you will learn it as your next special move. (You need to have the card with the button on the bottom right corner, it can be any type of spell). -"Click" move: Use any action (click move, avert move, ease move, attack move). Sub move: Once you have learned a sub move, you can use
