Using Photoshop Elements on an iPad or iPhone is very similar to using it on an iPad or iPhone, with the exception that you don't have touch or tilt controls. They are, however, available with the Pro app, which is available on iPhones, iPads, Macs and computers. The three main 'layers' in Photoshop are Mask, Fill and Adjustments layers. In this tutorial you will learn how to create a black-and-white image with the help of Photoshop, and then you will learn how to add black-and-white and sepia effects to the image. Before you start, you need to have Photoshop Elements installed on your computer. You can download it on the web at www.adobe.com/products/photoshop_elements/ Use your computer's keyboard to switch on the screen reader, and use your mouse to move around the screen. You need

- A white image (no colour)
- A black image (no colour)
- A grey image (no colour)
- Some black-and-white textures

1. Create a white image In the Home tab, click on the button at the top-left of the window (the square with the arrow in it). This opens up the File menu, and you can navigate to choose a file or drag an image file from your computer's hard drive onto the window. Next, click on the button in the Graphics panel. In the Graphics panel, at the bottom, you see the button with the arrow pointing to the right. This opens up the menu that has buttons for a lot of different image editing and creating tasks, including:

- Adding a new image
- Cutting
- Duplicating
- Copying
- Moving
- Rotating
- Flipping
- Pasting

You can select one of these editing tasks in the Graphics panel. Let's start with adding a new image. (It is best to use a photo, but any image will do.) 2. Add a new image You can start by clicking on the New button, which is at the top of the Graphics panel. When you click on it, you will see the new button. This opens up a dialog box that has an option to choose the image file you want. You can also choose whether the image you are adding has been saved in the Photo Library or from an 05a79cecff

The relationship between participation and the disabled elderly in Japan. This study was carried out to determine the patterns of participation for elderly disabled persons in the main family. The data were gathered in Japan for a project undertaken to promote the social participation of handicapped elderly people. The results showed that the most important factors for disabled elderly participating in the main family were present in the family in the past and who have the capability of taking a crucial role in the family (e.g. elder member, spouse). This study suggests that the family system of elderly disabled people should take a crucial role in the promotion of social participation.

Clan Charles Bruce, Duke of Albany The High Steward is a title of the Duke of Albany (later styled Prince of Scotland) and until the Union of the Crowns was the Duke of Albany (later styled Prince and Duke of Albany). The Duke of Albany is also Earl of Airth, Earl of Airth and Earl of Elgin (all in the Peerage of Scotland, the 2nd Earl's branch) and Baron of Leslie and Stenton in the Peerage of the United Kingdom.

Heraldry Family The lineage of the Bruce claim goes back to Robert I, Earl of Gloucester, a son of Robert I, Earl of Ross by his first wife Isabel of Clare, a daughter of William I, Earl of Ross. Robert and Isabel were the parents of Reginald de Dunbar, Earl of March, from whom descend the Earls of March. These Earls descend from Reginald de Dunbar, 5th Earl of March, by his second wife, a daughter of William III, Duke of Bavaria. They also descend from John de Dunbar, 6th Earl of March, by his second wife, Isabel of Clare, a daughter of Earl of Ross. The Earls of March descended from John de Dunbar, 5th Earl of March, by his fourth wife and the Lady of Barnard Castle, Eleanor de Clare, a daughter of Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Gloucester, who was a son of Robert de Bohun, 1st Earl of Hereford, from whom descend the Earls of Hereford. The Dunbar Earls descend from Robert I, Earl of Dunbar by his second wife Isabel of Clare. The Dunbars descend from the Robert I, Earl of Flanders, by his second wife, Isabel of Clare, a daughter of the Earl of Ross. A daughter of the 9th Earl of March, Lady
